MOONSHINE OUTFIT
DESTROYED BY OFFICERS
IN FLEMING*Squad of Prohibition Officers Sweep Down on Fleming County and Make Big Find.

The Owingville Outlook says: Prohibition Officer Robert Duff and posse, consisting of Mark Donaldson, Ambrose May, Austin Boaz, Robert Duff, Jr., Carroll Duff and Constable Reeves, the latter of Fleming county, made a raid for moonshiners in Fleming county. Leaving here in the forenoon of Wednesday of last week, they proceeded to Fleming, where they searched the house of a man by the name of Keithley, the house of a Mrs. Riddle and that of a man by the name of Atchison, but found nothing. Going on to the house of Russell Hoff in the neighborhood of Colfax, they found no one at home and the door securely locked. The officers broke open the door and entered the house. Here they found under the floor the furnace of a still with fire still burning under it, and sitting around on the floor were eight barrels of mash and beer, which they poured out in the yard. They also destroyed the still furnace. Russ Hall was seen going over the hill at the back of his house as the officers approached it. He was carrying a double barrel shotgun. Hall is said to be a desperate man and has long been suspected of making and selling moonshine whisky. He has been in trouble before. The officers had federal warrants for searching the houses mentioned. Mr. Duff proposes to make moonshiners live hard in this part of the country.

IS HELD ON MURDER
CHARGE AFTER DEATH*Robert Blades Charged With Murder
When Man With Whom He Fought
In November Died Tuesday
—Bond Fixed Low.

The Bracken Review says: Robert Blades, aged about 23 years, son of Mr. Bury Blades was arrested Tuesday and brought before Judge E. U. Dodson Wednesday morning and was released on bond of $1,000 pending action of the grand jury. Mr. Bury Blades, his father, signed the bond.

Mr. Blades is charged with being responsible for the death of Jess Ashcraft, son of James Ashcraft, and the warrant upon which he is charged with manslaughter is based as follows:

"That said Blades did on the 26th day of November, 1921, unlawfully, feloniously and maliciously make an assault upon Jess Ashcraft with a large club and did strike said Jess Ashcraft on the body and hand, and that from the effects of said attack the said Jess Ashcraft did die on the 13th day of December."

This very regrettable affair is a culmination of a little difficulty between the two men near the home of Mr. Ashcraft on Saturday after Thanksgiving and probably neither man thought of seriously wounding the other at the time. The principals in this tragedy are good citizens and Mr. Blades comes from a family that has a host of connections by that name throughout the county.

BAPTIST DENOMINA-TION IS VERY STRONG
IN THIS STATE*Survey Just Completed in Kentucky
Shows 16 Per Cent. of the Population Members of the Baptist Church.

Louisville, Ky., Dec. 15. — There are 381,865 Baptists in the state of Kentucky according to a survey just completed by Dr. E. P. Alldredge, secretary of Survey, Statistics and Information of the Baptist Sunday School Board. This survey covers the Baptist work for the last hundred years, and he finds the gain among Kentucky Baptists for the century is 900 per cent. and for the South as a whole 5,019 per cent.

In 1821, Kentucky was, as she is today, one of the strongest Baptist states in the Union. At that time there were 22 district associations with 430 churches, 259 ministers, 28,967 members, while 2,514 baptisms were reported for the year. In 1921 there were 73 district associations, 1899 churches, 13,213 baptisms, and 1,366 Sunday schools with an enrollment of 141,879. The local Baptist church property in the state is valued at $7,980,500.00, while the contributions to home purposes for last year were $1,411,672.00, and to missions and benevolences $1,368,168.00, making the total contributions for the year $2,779,840.

The survey shows that 16 per cent. of the total population of the state are members of the local Baptist churches. City schools will be dismissed Friday, December 23rd for Christmas holidays and will re-open on Tuesday, January 3rd.

THE "YELLOW PERIL."

The extent to which anti-Japanese feeling in California has been carried is strikingly shown by a recent incident in an Oakland high school. A young Japanese girl attained such high rank in her studies that she earned the reward and recognition of appointment as class orator. The students were so incensed over her appointment that they refused to attend the exercises, which included the oration by the talented Japanese school girl.

Such action by the white students, as the New York Times points out, does not strike distant observers as either wise or noble. "They have for such grievances as is theirs the easy remedy of getting better rank than the Japanese girl does and so keeping all the prizes in the family, as it were. By doing what they actually did they practically confessed he intellectual superiority—and their own inferiority, and that must have been, or at any rate it should have been humiliating. As it is, she seems to have beaten them at their own game, and their response is a fit of the sulks. That is not the way to meet the 'yellow peril.'"

Perhaps the Oakland high school students are not so much to be blamed for this petty and utterly unsportsmanlike attitude as are their parents, who must be held responsible for such unreasoning prejudice against the Japanese. Granting that the Japanese problem is a very vital one in California there are ample grounds for the belief that the anti-Japanese propaganda that has emanated from California has been founded upon jealousy and selfishness as well as upon more substantial grounds. The qualities of thrift and industry for which the Japanese are noted are qualities which the American people, including those resident in California, would do well to emulate.

California parents have never taken the right way, therefore it is not surprising that their children do not employ the right method of meeting the "yellow peril."

PROTESTING LOSS OF TRADITIONAL CHRISTMAS FEATURES

There are two indications of a possible deficit in the traditional observance of Christmas time cropping out in the day's news. There is the startling announcement that the Christmas tree is about to be voted a back number because of scarcity and cost. Also that the marriage license disk shows a discouraging falling off in holiday marriage prospects.

These are sad signs of the changing spirit of the times. It has forever been held so far as mortal ken extends with any degree of certainty that the growth of the fir, the cedar and the pine had peculiar connection with the advent of yuletide. It has ever been deemed the principal function of these evergreens to bear mid their fragrant branches the manifestations of the Christmas spirit.

As for the marriage license records, the situation is quite as upsetting. One may not enumerate in any given period of time the many marriages that through the ages of the past have been planned to fall on the happy and auspicious occasion of the Bethlehem Babe's nativity. It is a sentiment held sacred by many, an augur of happy home life to follow, the prattle of children and the home fireside picture of rare felicity in family devotions.

Of course many others just made a frolic occasion of the thought, but even in this there is subconscious deference to the sweet occasion. Maybe both predictions are without substance. Let us hope so in behalf of the sweetness of sentiment and the beauty of romance.

THE FRENCH LADY OF THE WHITE FEATHER.

Cable rumor is to the effect that Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen, the tempestuous and temperamental tennis champion of France, contemplates bringing libel suits against American tennis tourney managers. The trouble, of course, is her collapse in face of certain defeat for the world championship on American courts. She says that unkind opinion of her action in being suddenly ill at the most opportune times is detraction "actuated by pro-Boche sentiment." Which is of a piece with the dexterous little lady's deft sidestepping of obvious superiority in net contest.

Truth is that America was exceedingly kindly and forbearing in its spoken estimate of the Lenglen antics. Those present and disappointed by her pettish refusals to play out the string even forbore to say that while they were perfectly justifiable in feeling. Her opponent, no less chagrined than she, had to take as default prize that which she had every reason to regard as inescapable fruit of her superior prowess, was most considerate and courteous toward her evasive foreign foe. Had the action taken by Mlle. Lenglen been that of a man the American expression had been undeterred by any such delicacy.

Americans are yet charitable toward Mlle. Suzanne in her childish funk. That's why they suggest to her the wisdom of quiet retirement from the limelight and unpleasant and unprofitable publicity while we forgivingly forget.

MARYLAND'S BOOK FOR VOTERS.

The Maryland League of Women Voters has announced the publication of a book on the "Government of Maryland." During the past year the need of an accurate and concise discussion of the powers and functions of the various departments of the state government has become clear to the new women voters. The State League accordingly requested Dr. Ella Lonn, Professor of History at Gloucester College, to prepare a text suitable for the needs of the new voters. Dr. Lonn devoted the summer months to the preparation of the volume, and it is now on the market. The book is being sold by the League at cost, that it may be available to every woman in the state.

The estimated Federal expenditures for the next fiscal year are over two billion dollars less than the expenditures for the last fiscal year, most of which was under Democratic executive control.

COMMUNITY WORK STRESSED AT EXTENSION CONFERENCE.

Lexington, Ky. — Kentucky farmers can be made more profitable and their farm homes more happy and contented through the development of a well-organized community program of work according to opinions expressed by speakers who addressed the state's 100 extension workers in agriculture and home economics in their four-day annual conference which has just closed here. Discussion relative to the community and the part it plays in bringing about improvements on the farm and in the homes of the state dominated the entire conference.
Three phases of the subject were given special attention at the conference. These included a discussion of the community as a unit for extension work, a united community program to include both the farm and the home, and the construction of a community program of work.
Several speakers emphasized the fact during the conference that the agricultural and home problems of a county or given district could be solved best by working at them from a community standpoint. Chief among the speakers who brought out this point was T. F. Dixon, of the University of Tennessee, who spoke on "Community, The Unit for Extension." He pointed out that inasmuch as the community, whose center was the village church, the store or school house, represented a natural organization that it was the logical basis for extension work.

A united program of work to include the farm home as well as the farm itself is one of the greatest needs of the speakers brought out in addressing the workers. In the future, more attention can be profitably given the problems of the home and community and perhaps less to the farm problems which are usually included in economic production, purchasing and marketing, they pointed out.
Considerable time was devoted to the conference to discussing the methods of building the community program of work. Problems of better livestock, clothing, health, home management, labor-saving devices, better roads, schools and country churches were given an important place in the program.
J. W. Whitehouse, Davies county agent, was elected president of the state's county agents during the conference. W. C. Wilson, Pulasko county was named vice-president and C. L. Taylor, Boyle county, secretary-treasurer.

New York Letter by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — "From out the sea came a wondrous craft." Yet it is safe to say no craft ever before was so wonderful that it could make the sea without a bottom. It recalls "they went to sea in a sieve, they did; in a sieve they went to sea." Nevertheless the good ship F. D. Ashe, a Standard Oil tanker arrived in New York lately without a bottom, making the trip from the Bahamas. Coming into port she was buoyed up by compressed air tanks beneath her tattered hull and supported on either side by wrecking tugs. She went ashore in a storm on October 27th, and the voyagers on their return trip were obliged to place their hope in her donkey engine, the wireless set, and the fact that the ship was built under the latest longitudinal system which is designed to prevent oil tankers from breaking in two. The compressed air tanks held her well and she was towed to the North as though nothing were the matter.

We may trust the Postoffice Department implicitly. Despite the little aggravations in delayed deliveries Mr. Will Hays may be counted upon to meet any emergency that arises in his department. This fact was demonstrated in a recent sojourn of that gentleman in the city. He was attending his college fraternity dinner at one of the large hotels — I may say it just so happens that his fraternity is my choice fraternity — and when obliged to leave the festive board to call the President or someone or other in Washington he was urged to use the private telephone in the managers' office. A bevy of young Sorority women were in the hotel at that time looking for the manager to arrange for a fraternity dinner of their own. Seeing Mr. Hays in the manager's office they took him to be the manager and before he could protest, told him their desires. Without halting an eye he listened to their wants, took memorandum of the date any number of their party, gave a few choice suggestions for table decorations and told them the banquet would be arranged as they desired. Little did these young things know that a member of the Cabinet of this great United States had played maître d'hôtel for them. This from our facile Postmaster General!

One big trouble with the who whistles just no wiles in the dissensions that beset it. There are various theatrical associations, leagues and unions, functioning more or less selfishly and with secret antagonism to each other. The managers are showing a sincere desire to meet this situation. William A. Brady has called a conference on the subject where all may be heard, and the legitimate interest of theatricals promoted, as the season shows a decided need for just that thing.

Thousands of anglers from all over the Borough of Brooklyn are flocking nightly to the newly acquired City Pier at Coney Island, to take advantage of the wonderful fishing. Mid-night will show a long line of these Isaac Waltons casting their lines from the bridge in the full glare of the arc light illumination. The smallest boy invariably lands the biggest fish and the fattest man gets the greatest number of minnows — accent on the last syllable, according to Al Jolson's new pronunciation. The first night's fishing amounted to a reception tendered Borough President Edward Riegelmann, whose persistent fight resulted in the acquiring by the city of the pier. It is not as to what whether the fish were as enthusiastic as the anglers.

In a bare room on the top floor of the old Hotel De Gink—now the City Employment Bureau—the man who brought down the first German Zepplin of the war sat waiting for his turn in the employment line. This was Capt. Aymer Brandon, Croix de Guerre. Just behind him sat Lieut. Arthur Leon Marquard of the 42nd Black Watch, the man who was to have been Commander in chief of the Spanish Air Force in the war against Morocco, and who recently returned, on the Spanish Royal Mail liner "Montevideo." Neither of these two veterans knew the other. Four years ago one was engaged in bombing and the other in scouting with the sky as the limit. This day one was engaged in seeking employment as an editorial assistant, the other as an aerial mechanic. When they became acquainted they were unanimous in their agreement that it was easier to hunt Boches at an altitude of 20,000 feet than to hunt employment on the solid ground. During the conversation Capt. Brandon, said, referring to a query about his decorations, "These things mean nothing now — it is necessary that I get employment." There should be tragedy enough in this, but a later news report tells that when this same Brandon returned to his living quarters after an unsuccessful attempt to get a job, he found it rife of all that he possessed, including his medals. And so he had to be heroic again!

Our own William Faversham is coming back in this day of revivals with his oldest and best matinee idol vehicle. He is going to put on the hallmarks of the great outdoors and stride about to the heart patter of the new generation of flappers, in Edwin Milton Royale's "The Squaw Man." It was way back in October, 1915, that he fired the famous shot of that play which it is safe to say was "heard round the world" in various productions. Next to the "Girl of the Golden West," since done in opera, we have never had such a picturesque outdoor play, and never at any time such a man in such a part. Out here we call him Willy—Vale Willy!

CHURCHMEN TO BE ASKED TO HELP RUSSIANS
Federal Council of Churches Sends Appeal for Starving Russians To Many Churches.

New York, Dec. 14. — In behalf of the starving children of Russia the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America will issue a Christmas and New Year's appeal to the churches, to the Sunday schools and to the Christian homes of the United States. It will ask for money to help some 5,000,000 children from starvation.

The message will go direct to 125,000 congregations, or the entire religious press and through them be presented to a constituency of 50,000,000 persons.

Because of what the churches have done in the past for the children of Belgium and Central Europe, for devastated France, for China sufferers on the Armenians, a generous response is expected in spite of the many appeals that are already before the churches.

The call for funds is being issued at the request of Herbert Hoover, who declares the need to be imperative. President Harding has given his emphatic approval to the plan.

The relief made available by these funds will be distributed through the American Relief Administration and the American Friends Service Committee, which are in closest cooperation. The distribution will be under the supervision of a representative of the Federal Council on Herbert Hoover's staff in Russia. Though it had not been the intention of the Federal Council officials to ask for funds at this time, reports of famine conditions in Russia show such an appalling need that it was absolutely imperative to go ahead with the appeal at once.

To handle the situation the Commission on International Justice and Good-Will of the Federal Council has appointed a special committee on Mercy and Relief. Dr. John H. Finley is chairman; Dr. Sidney L. Gulick is secretary; Hon. Carl E. Milliken formerly governor of Maine, is treasurer. Headquarters will be maintained at the offices of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, 165 East Twenty-second street, New York City.

The efforts to raise funds will not be organized as a drive. It will consist of a straight appeal to the churches to arouse their people to the urgent needs of the children of Russia.

A CHEAP BUY.
A Nantucket fisherman has been made happy as the result of an auction recently held by the United States Government on the abandonment of the Surtiside life saving station, one of the oldest on the Massachusetts coast. A practically unused and well cared for surf boat that cost $750, when now a few years ago, was knocked down to him for $15.

IF WOMEN ONLY KNEW

What a Heap of Happiness It Would Bring to Mayville Homes.

Hard to do housework with an aching back. Bring you hours of misery at leisure or at work.

If women only knew the cause—that

Backache pains often come from weak kidneys.

Two would save much needless woe. Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys.

Read what a Mayville citizen says: Mrs. William Farley, 128 East Second street, says: "Not long ago I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they did me a world of good. I am pleased to recommend them. My back hurt nearly all the time and I couldn't do my washing on account of the misery in my back. I couldn't sleep at night and mornings I could get up feeling all right. I would be dizzy and could see black specks before my eyes. My kidneys didn't act regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. My hands and arms would get numb and cold. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills highly advertised so I went to Wood & Son's Drug Store and got a box. I began using them and was soon rid of the trouble."

Price 60 cents, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Farley had. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.
